Arch Witbeck Dies Very Suddenly

Death came suddenly to Arch Witbeck, 51 year old farmer, as he sat in his home here Monday afternoon. He had a rather severe attack Sat. afternoon and had two or three Monday. He was sitting in the kitchen of his home in the afternoon and tumbled out of his chair to the floor, expiring almost instantly when the last fatal spell of heart trouble hit him.

He was a pioneer of the district coming with his mother and brothers and sisters to the Raymond district in 1902. He is survived by his wife and quite a large family of children, two daughters being married. The children are: Mrs. Felda Scoville Raymond, Mrs. Bessie Pratt, Lethbridge; and Pauline, Maxine, Owen, Teddy and Dixie, all home. The following brothers and sisters also survive; Rodney Marion and Asel of Eugene, Oregon; Q. Witbeck of Long Beach Cal., Mrs. Bertha Thelin, Corona, Cal., Mrs. Dave Clemis, Lethbridge, Mrs. S. B. Card, Mrs. R. Kinsey, Mrs. T. K. Roberts, Mrs. S. C. N. Grey, Hampton and Wm. all of Raymond.

Deceased was a man of jovial nature, liked by everyone, and a familiar figure about the streets of Raymond. There were only a few of the townspeople but who thought he was in perfect health, and the news of his passing came as a distinct shock to all.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon under the direction of the First Ward Bishopric and will be held in the Second Ward Chapel at 1.30 p.m.

John H. Blackmore, M. P. left for the session of the Dominion House in Ottawa last Saturday. Travelling by mixed train from Cardston, he was 20 minutes late in arriving at Lethbridge, but officials held up the Medicine Hat train so that he could make connections and go right on.

A. T. A. NOTES

The Raymond local of the A. T. A. met at the home of Mr. J. W. Evans, as guests of Miss Ruth Evans, on Monday, January 11. A short business meeting preceded the social program. The movie machine, which it is hoped will be part of regular class room routine soon, was introduced to the teachers. Four reels of film were shown; two on Alaska, one on skiing and one on Niagara. A lovely lunch concluded the evening.

MOTOR CLUBS WILL IMPROVE TOURING BUREAU FACILITIES

Improvement of its touring bureau services is the consistent aim of the Alberta Motor Association. This has been one of the factors chiefly responsible for the growing popularty of the services from year to year.

The Calgary branch of the A.M.A. has initiated another step in the direction of improved services for the benefit of motorists.

A resolution passed at the annual meeting of that branch requested the Minister of Public Works for Alberta to furnish the A.M.A. offices in Edmonton Calgary and Lethbridge a report weekly showing where and what kind of road work was being carried on throughout the province.

With such reports at hand, the bureaus in each city would have complete and up-to-date information for the motoring public.

Motorists also would be saved the unnecessary loss of time and expnse on unavoidable detonrs, by having full information before-hand as to the nature of the work under way on the highways and the extent of the operations.

Just as the reports on road conditions, issued by the A M A. branches, have been welcomed, so would an enlargement of the service through giving construction reports prove popular with all motorists.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETING

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Jan. 14th at the home of Mrs. Amanda Nilsson with 14 ladies present. President Mrs. Miller in the chair. Song "O Canada," the creed was read in unison, & the roll call was answered by new ideas for next year's programs and meetings.

Greetings from Mrs. M. L. Thompson were read by the Secretary, Mrs. A. W. Kirkham. The yearly program was discussed and plans made for the coming year. The door prize donated by Mrs. June Allred was won by Mrs. Lavern Nilsson.

A delightful lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Ada Ford. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jennie Allan, 2:30 p.m., Feb. 11th.

Charles Mattson Murdered By His Kidnappers

On Monday a young man out rabbit hunting came across the naked & frozen body of Charles Mattson, who had been kidnaped from his Tacoma home Sunday evening, Dec. 27, and whose parents had been trying to get the ransom money to the kidnapers to save the lads life, for the father had feared violence from the start he said.

The body was found about 600 yards from the road, but the face was so badly battered and covered with blood that identification was well nigh impossible and it was not until Monday night that relatives and federal investigators had finally made the identification certain.

On Tuesday, while funeral services were arranged for the little victim federal and state authorities were organizing one of the most vigorous man hunts ever staged with $17,000 reward for the capture of the bearded man who entered the French window of the Mattson home and made off with Charles.

Doctors believed that the boy had been dead four or five days, but he had received a terrible beating either before or after death and it appeared that he had been killed by blows from a hammer or some similar instrument. Clothes identified as his were found in a deserted auto in the city of Seattle, but authorities have very little to work on in the way of clues

Funeral Services For John H. Wall

Funeral services over the remains of John H. Wall were held in the Second Ward Chapel at 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon, Jan 10th, with Bishop James Walker in charge and Chas. B. Strong in charge of the singing. The large crowd present and the profusion of floral offerings were a silent tribute to the character of deceased who was loved and respected by all and especially by the young people, with whom he delighted to work and associate.

Hymns by the Choir were: "Oh My Father," "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go" and "Oh Grave Where is Thy Victory." "Goin' Home" sung by Joseph McLean and a Duett by Mesdames King and Walker were the special musical numbers. Mesdames H. F. Allen, Archie Terry and O. H. Snow, and Azel Stevenson sang the solos in the Choir numbers. Pall bearers were members of the Priesthood Quorum of which deceased was a member and were: L. L. Palmer, J. U. Allred, John F. Salmon, W. A. Heninger, Heber F. Allen and A. D. Woolley.

The invocation was by Pres. J. W. Evans, the benediction by L. L. Palmer and the grave was dedicated by Wilford A. Heninger. A large cortege followed the remains to the cemetery where interment was made with Christensen Bros. in charge.

The first speaker was Elder Arthur Dahl who spoke as a friend and neighbor. His acquaintance with deceased extended back over 50 years time and in all those years he had never known John H. Wall to say an unkind word or do an unkind deed to anyone. He was always a hard worker, and during his residence in Utah spent his life in timbering. The road was never too long nor the weather too rough for deceased to at least make an endeavor to keep his promises and perform his part of the contract. They shipped together from Utah in 1902 and the speaker located on the west side of the block while deceased built on the east side of the block. Their barns and corrals were only divided by a narrow lane, and they nearly always exchanged greetings over the back fence during chore time. He spoke of the faithfulness of deceased in every walk of life, and felt sure that the father would be waiting to welcome the rest of the family as they passed on and urged them to be as faithful as he was. He extended his sympathy to the bereaved wife and mother and prayed for her good health and peace of mind.

Elder Jas. S. Andeson was the next speaker. He met deceased on his first night in Raymond and their friendship had continued since that time. They had enjoyed many fine conversations and discussions on Gospel principles and themes. He spoke from the Book of Mormon on the Resurrection and stated that the heaven we get will be the heaven we earn and no more. The fruits of a good life are love, peace, joy, long-suffering and interest in one's fellowmen. These traits deceased possessed in rich measure, and had therefore lived a successful life.

Bishop Walker made a few closing remarks and voiced his appreciation of the willingness of deceased to labor in the Church, and stated that while he had charge of baptisms there were no children overlooked when they were eight years of age that were not invited to baptisms, and that while supervising ward teaching, the district over which he had charge had 100p.c. visits always. John H. Wall and his jovial nature would be missed by all. He thanked all for their kindly assistance in the illness and death of the father, and asked the people to be mindful and prayerful concerning the bereft wife and mother who would so sorely miss the kind affection and care of her departed husband.

Geo. Heggie was operted on for goitre over the week-end and is doing fine. He has several other slight operations coming up and is under the constant care of the Doctor until these are all attended to. His friends in Raymond wish for his speedy recovery.

A good Chinook would be greatly welcomed by everyone now. We have had a great deal of cold weather during the past five weeks and no Chinook at all. The cold weather has been hard on cattle and coal piles just seem to melt away in the sub-zero weather.

A. D. Woolley Again Heads Ratepayers

The Annual meeting of the Raymond Ratepayers Association was held Monday night in the Town Hall with about 30 ratepayers present. The first business of the meeting was the reading and acceptance of the minutes of the last annual meeting.

Election of officers resulted as follows:

President: A. D. Woolley, re-elected.

Vice.-Pres: A. E. Hancock.

Sec-Treas: A. W. Jones.

Directors: D. M. Powelson, S. B. Card, Junius L. Anderson Volney Philips and Geo. Terry.

The first three officials each made brief remarks expressing their hopes for the future usefulness of the organization.

The President asked for expressions from the floor re Town Manager for the Town. Because of lack of knowledge on the matter the Executive was asked to write other town and find out their experience on the matter.

Several expressed the though that the Swimming Pool should be definitely decided upon and proceeded with and some suggested efforts toward a recreation hall.

The coming Town elections were discussed some and policy for the new officials discussed. A motion finally carried to have a meeting Saturday Jan. 18, following the Annual Ratepayers meeting when policies and candidates for elections would be discussed. Meeting adjourned at 10:15.

$85,000 Beet Pay Mailed to Growers

Considerable Stock Being Shipped Now

The past several shipping days have been busy ones at the Raymond yards. There is quite a lot of fat stock and lambs now ready to ship, and some owners are cleaning out their herds now that prices have advaneed.

One complaint heard from all shippeers is a lack of chute and corral room at the stockyards. Last Saturday quite a number were shipping, and herds of cattle and sheep were held in nearby lanes for three or four hours in some cases while corrals were being emptied so the stock could be handled.

We understand the Board of Trade has been in touch with C.P.R. officials asking for at least double the amount of corral room there is at the yards now. Another scale and complete set of loading chutes with added corrals, would not only speed up the loading, but permit shippers to handle their stock without shrinkage and loss. It is understood that the C.P.R. have promised immediate action.

The stock shipping business has been increasing rapidly the past few years, and these additions with the new Y which has been recently laid would give the town the facilities that it really needes to handle the increasing freight business.

The volume of snow and wind of the past ten days has enabled the Town to furnish considerabel work for some of its unemployed despite the fact that only a few blocks in the centre of town have been touched.

SUGAR JUMP BRINGS HEAVY RUSH ORDERS

CHEQUES GO INTO MAILS ON FRIDAY, BRINGING 1936 PAYMENT TO $5.55 PER TON—STOCK THRIVES ON BEET PULP AND MOLASSES— HEAVY USE OF FACTORY BY-PRODUCTS

A handsome melon will be split by some 950 sugar beet growers of southern Alberta today when cheques amounting to $85,000 go into the mails. This represents a payment of 40 cents a ton and brings the amount paid to date for 1936 beets to $5.55, the original payment being unusually high, $5.15 a ton.

Growers are delighted with the substantial payment & the wide distribution of the new money will stimulate trade in all lines. The payment will be on the 117,750 tons delivered in the Raymond factory district and the 89,178 tons in the Picture Butte factory district.

A better tone to the general sugar situation was refleeted recently when the wholesale price of sugar advanced 20 cents a hundred, 10 cents on Jan. 8 and 10 cents on January 12.—Leth. Herald.

The School Board had a man engaged this week to overhaul part of the wiring in the High School building which had been a cause of worry lately.

More snow on Friday with a cutting north-west wind covered what semblance of trails and roads there were abont the countryside, & folks were trudging and working through the soft snow.

Local High Quintette Beat Temple City Five

Raymond's High School Basketeers, coached by Dean Rolfson, handed a severe beating to the Cardston Hi group Saturday night in the Opera House when the locals won by a score of 45-16. The boys were going great, the fact of them being on their own floor helping them of course, but throughout the entire game they showed superiority over Cardston in floor work, passing and basket shooting.

The win made the locals very jubilant, especially in view of the fact that Cardston trimmed them in the recent tournament in Magrath during the Xmas holidays. Raymond will make a strong bid for the High School championship before the end of the season if they keep on. The coach gave all his subs a chance to perform in the last quarter.

LINEUPS AND SCORES

Raymond: Stone 16; Boyson 10; Selman 2; Ehlert, Hicken, Piepgrass, Brewerton 9; Nalder 8; Heninger, Larson.

Cardston: Matkin 5; Pilling 2; Wheeler; D. Steed 2;; Hanson 1 Roberts 3; Del Steed 3; Brown, Smith.

Referees; Max Heggie and Bruce Galbraith.

In the preliminary the Raymond Juniors nosed out a 1 point win from the Stirling Juniors in a closely contested and very hard fought game.

Premier Aberhart and Hon. C.C. Ross Explain

Following considerable controversy, the Hon. C.C. Ross and Premier Aberhart both explained why Ross quit the cabinet early this week. Hon Ross stated that he resigned because he was oppposed to the Premier's intention of making Lucien Maynard a member of the Cabinet with portfolio. The Premier on the other hand stated that if he could not choose whom he liked for Cabinet posts he may as well resign as Premier.

Without entering into any arguments, it seems too bad that a question of this sort shoul rob the Government of one of its most able ministers, & one of the few Cabineet members whose entire life and training had prepared him for just sueh work. The fact still remains too that the change or appointment which caused the rift has not been made yet.

SPEAK WELL OF YOUR TOWN

For several years we have been writing about boosting the old home town. This week we would rather bring your attention to the following written by Al Weber for the Cheboygan (Mich.) News. You can substitute Raymond where he says Cheboygan and it will read just as well.

"This is your town. Speak well of it. Speak well of its people and its institutions. Practice praise instead of fault finding. Dispel the blues and old man gloom by tuning your mind to the better things, to the things that tie you to and detain you in this community. This is home, and home is just what you make it. The lowliest hovel can be a happy home, as happy as the most brilliant and pretentious in the city and community if we only do our part to make it happy. Fortified beyond that kind of a spirit, Cheboygan can come to be the best place in the whole wide world. Remember when you take occasion to visit other cities and communities you make preparations for such a visit and that visit invariably involves you in only pleasant and prosperous surroundings. You have no occasion to see or experience the dreary side of life in those places. You are not brought into contact with other's poverty, distress and desperate fight for an existence, wherein at home you are not acquainted with conditions around you or brought to your attention by actual contacts, and to many people judge accordingly, and their comparisons are prejudiced and unfair. Again, we urge, love your home town and privileges you enjoy therein. Speak friendly and encouragingly of your town, and thereby build within yourself a kind of respect and regard that will be implanted in others."

THEY NEVER READ ADS, BUT THEN

An investtigator for one of the New York agencies recently canvassed New York on behalf of one of the large stores to determine to what extent house wives read advertisments. The results seemed discouraging, and more than 42 p.c. of the ladies said they never read ads. One of the housewives was emphatic saying:

"I never bought an advirtised article in my life."

She lived on fashionable Fifth Avenue and it was learned, is a cousin of one of the executives of the agency. So the executive paid her a Sunday afternoon call and found in a cursory glance or two:

Mrs. H.'s car is a Pierce Arrow.

Ms. H said she had "seen something" about Raymond-Whitcomb cruises to the Mediterranean, and would this be a good solution for her son, who has been ill?.

Mrs. H said she had "seen from Lord and Taylor; and a considerable percentage of her furniture from W. and J. Sloane

Lucky Strike and Camel cigarettes were offered with tea The tea itself was from Mark Wendell persistent Boston mail order advertiser.

A visit, by permission, to pantry and kitchen, disclosed Campbell's Soups, many packages bearing the name Heinz, Bon Ami Cleanser, and a new-looking set of Wear-Ever kitchenware.

A similar peep into the bathroom revealed Dr. West's toothbrush, Ivory and Elizabeth Arden soaps, Pebeco toothpaste, Martex towels, and a glittering assortment of Standard Sanitary fixtures

The inventory is incomplete. It is nothing to what a trained observer, with more time could make in that snug Fifth Avenue nest so full of advertised merchandise.—The American Press

A.M.A. MAKES NEW APPEAL FOR COURTESY ON HIGHWAYS

An appeal for more courtesy on the highways has been sponsored by the Alberta Motor Association which believes that drivers may still go a long way in this respect.

Dealing with this problem at its annual meeting, the members of the A.M.A. passed a resolution instructing the directors to request operators of vehicle fleets to co-operate in having their drivers observe the rules of the highway and display proper courtesy to others on the highway.

Discussion indicated that some of the commercial lines have seen to it that there should be no further occasion for complaints against their truck drivers. Oil companies, for example, are known to have told their drivers to observe road courtesy.

As a result some trucks carry the sign, "Toot Your Horn and We Will Share the Road With You."

At the same time, motorists have complained over the fact that some trucks are not equiped with rear view mirrors. In some cases, tooting of the motor car horn has been a futile endeavor, as the truck driver was unable to hear the appeal to share the road.

Efforts of the A.M.A to bring about a greater degree of road courtesy have had beneficial results already, as it is reported that some bus companies have instructed their drivers to reduce their rate of speed and show courtesy to motorists on the highways.

WEEKLY LETTER

Much can be done by the homemaker to make his garden an unqualified success by planning the arrangement of vegetables and floweres, and carefully selecting the varieties most suitable to climatic conditions in advance of the spring season.

At this Station the gardener is now reviewing the 1937 seed catalogue, selecting the new variety introductions to be tested in the coming season and those that have proven satisfactory over a period of years. Notes are taken on the catalogue description of these new varieties to compare with future results. Since it is the duty of this Station to test new sorts as they are introduced, it has been found that only on rare occasions have the old standbys given place to newer sorts. If advice is in order, the suggestion is respectfully made that only seed of well tried varieties be ordered; in other words, it is not advisable for the amateur to indulge too freely in new varieties, which are really still novelties and may result in disappointment.

After all the varieties are listed, the dimensions of the garden plot are obtained and a sketch of the boundary area made on paper. For the dry land garden the plot is divided so that one half can be summer fallowed while the other part is being cropped; a feature that has been found to be essential for successful vegetable culture, from years of experimentation The portion to be cropped is then marked out in rows three feet apart and the full length of the garden in order to facilitate horse cultivation. In the irrigated areas this plan may have to be modified so that it follows the general slope of the land, that is, to run the rows up and down the incline so that the water will run between them and not pond.

The arrangement of the vegetables in the garden is not considered from the standpoint of the relation of one kind of vegetable to another and the final easthetic qualities. The varying heights and foraging activities of the different vegetables necessitate planting them so that one will affect the growth of the other as little as possible. It is also desirable to have the tall-growing kinds set off to one side of the garden and if possible plant the varieties in order of height. This lends a touch of beauty to an otherwise colorless part of the home grounds.

FLOWERS

The flower borders have been found to be less perplexing at planting time, when they were first considered at leisure. Plant height and flower colours are the most important features to consider. By jotting down the colours of the varieties desired, the colour combinations may easily be worked out with the aid of a few crayons or water colours. For the convenience of those unable to decide on harmonious colour schemes, the various seed firms have colour charts or lists which they supply free of charge and very often as a part of their annual catalogue.

For a good many years this Station has carried on extensive variety tests with flowers and vegetables. A list of varieties most suited to local conditions is revised from time to time as service to those interested.

John Neal observed: "Kites ise against, not with the wind." When current history is written will you be listed with the human kites or catastrophes?

IN THE TIME OF CHANGE

All things must change: the vision, pass,
The shadow lengthen on the grass,
The ships go down beyond the sun,
The passion of the heart be done,
The flower droops: we cannot stay
The lovely miracle of May.

But in the time of change, a rare
Illumination fills the air.
There is a shift, a holy pause
Between what is and what once was.
The senses quicken with delight;
The scene grows pure upon the sight.
Our fixity is lost; the eyes
Look out with passionless surprise,
And in that instant we may see
The shape of an eternity.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

(By H.G.L. Strange)
Director, Research Department
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

Importing countries have bought much less wheat since the depression than they did in the good years.

For five years prior to 1929 the average yearly purchases of wheat by importing from exporting countries was 784 million bushels.

These purchases gradually decreased, until or 1934-35 only 537 million bushels were demanded, a decline of approximately 31 p.c.

Canada, unfortunately, was the chief loser her sales falling from an average of 309 million bushels per annum for five years prior to 1929, to 166 million in 1934-35, a decline of 46p.c.

Argentina suffered less than others, her sales actually increasing during the depression years from an average of 151 million for 5 years before 1929 to 183 million bushels for the year 1934-35, or an increase of 17 per cent.

What did Canada do to lose more than her share international sales?

What did Argentina do that enables her to win new markets?

There would seem to be room here for careful investigation and study.

Fortunately, things now appear to be somewhat on the mend, for Mr. Broomhall estimates the importing countries this year will demand 658 million bushels, and that Canada's share of these sales will be about 216 million.
